Highland Park Continues to Expand Television and Internet Provider Options

We're pleased to announce that more Borough residents will now have access to the town's licensed television service providers, Verizon FiOS and Cablevision.

Both long-time providers of television and internet service, Cablevision, through its Optimum TV and Optimum Online products, is available townwide and Verizon, which first entered the Borough more than five years ago, has been expanding its FiOS TV and FiOS Internet infrastructure to reach all Borough neighborhoods. That project is set for completion in the next few months.

Also in the next several months, HPTV, Highland Park's public access channel, will begin broadcasting on FiOS. Stay tuned for updates. For Cablevision subscribers, HPTV is currently available on Channel 15.
